LEARNING IN THE REAL WORLD – LEADING AUTHENTIC LEARNING

The AADES Organising Committee invites you to submit a presentation proposal for the 2010 Leaders' Forum.

This year's forum sessions will focus on the application of authentic learning for leaders and managers in a distance education environment. As leaders in authentic learning, we are looking to AADES members to give presentations or lead workshops across the following four themes:

LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

How to improve your effectiveness as a leader of authentic learning in a distance education school.

INDIGENOUS EDUCATION

What does authentic learning mean to your leadership role for indigenous education?

E-LEARNING

How you can harness e-learning technologies to support authentic learning as a distance education provider.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

How you can support your staff's professional development in an authentic learning environment for distance education.

E-learning workshops may run for 60 minutes. All other presentations will be allotted 45 minutes (30 minutes for presentation with the remaining time for questions and set up).

HOW TO SUBMIT:

For details on how to submit your presentation proposal, see the 'Call for Presentations' page on the AADES Leaders' Forum 2010 website at www.tekura.school.nz/aaades2010.

Proposals are due Friday, 30th July 2010.
